THAT WHISKY.

The Bottle Identified by Jacob Mower, Who Placed it in the Market House Wall Fifty-four Years Ago.

Mr. Jacob Mower, of Lewis county, who is nearly eight-two years of age, was in Maysville, on Thursday, and furnished the BULLETIN some interesting facts concerning the old market building and the whisky that was found in one of the piers when it was torn down several weeks ago. He said to a representative of the But-

"I was a brick mason and worked on the market house, I think in 1829. The brick and sand were furnished by Thomas G. Richardson, and I did the work. I was engaged on it nine days and received part of the time $1.50 a day and for the balance $2 a day. I have seen the bottle of whisky taken out of the pier and recognized it as the one I put there in 1829. Charles Duncan got it from John Sumrall who kept a wholesale grocery store in the building on Market street, now occupied by Mr. Paul Hæflich. It was full up to the neck and was sealed with bees-wax as was the custom in that day. It was pure whisky of the best quality and was at least two years old. Nobody was present when I put it in the
